GREAT GROWDS SEE PARADE

City is Thronged with Country People.

THOUSANDS ARE PRESENT

At Afternoon Performance of the United Shows

The Forepaugh-Sells Bros. Circus Proves One of the Greatest Ever Witnessed in This City.

Through the crowded streets, the great Forepaugh and Sells Bros. parade passed this morning at 11 o'clock and the opinion was unanimous that the big show has one of the best street exhibitions of any that has ever visited the city.

All of the shops, the schools and most of the business houses were closed while the parade, over a mile in length and taking nearly an hour to pass a given point, traversed the principal streets. It is estimated that several thousand and farmers from all parts of the surrounding country were in the city today for the big show.

Five large bands, three great herds of elephants, 3 herds of camels, forty cages of every species of animal in captivity, four baby camels, two sets of lion cubs, performing bears and performing seals were the principal attractions of the parade. The spectacular and realistic fire show, a feature of the daily performances, was also a feature of the parade.

The forces were in excellent condition, the costumes new and pretty and the wagons had all been recently painted. Taken as a whole the parade was one of the most extensive that ever passed over the streets of Marion. It was plainly evident that the management had spent thousands of dollars getting the show ready for the present season.

The show carries about 1000 men, 150 performing horses, twenty ponies, and 500 draft horses. The main tent of the circus is a six center pole affair and said to be the largest piece of canvas in the world. It requires seventy-four cars to transport the circus, traveling in four sections.

The Forepaugh Sells Bros. circus arrived in the city yesterday morning on the Hocking valley and the tents were immediately put up on the East end circus grounds. During the day thousands of persons journeyed to the place watching the clock like precision which characterized the almost gigantic efforts of the showmen in making ready for the performances.

The many attractions of the show were open to all of the visitors. A great city in itself, with its eating tent, sleeping tents, hospital, barber shop, and other features, the place had much to interest the initiated.

This afternoon's performance from the opening "The Carnival of the Nations" to the fire spectacle which closes the show was one continuous round of pleasure to the thousands of persons who crowded their way into the tents. The great number of acts are wonderful exhibitions of daring, skill and the management is to be congratulated for securing a performance of such class.

The crowd tonight is expected to be even larger than that which attended the afternoon performance.

Fred DeWolfe, a former Marion boy, is treasurer of the Forepaugh-Sells circus and is in the city with the big show today. He is a son of James DeWolfe, of Columbus, but formerly of Marion.

One of the valuable horses of the Forepaugh-Sells circus was seriously injured at the Silver street Hocking Valley crossing Sunday morning while unloading wagons. One of the heavy wagons got away from the showmen and dashed into the animal severely bruising its left hind legs and cutting a gash in its left shoulder. The animal was removed to the show grounds where the show veterinary placed it in the hospital.

Cured Rheumatism.

Mr. Wm. Henry, of Chattanooga, Tenn., had rheumatism in his left arm. "The strength seemed to have gone out of the muscles so that it was useless for work," he says. "I applied Chamberlain's Pain Balm and wrapped the arm in flannel at night, and to my relief I found that the pain gradually left me and the strength returned. In three weeks the rheumatism had disappeared and has not since returned." If troubled with rheumatism try a few applications of Pain Balm. You are certain to be pleased with the relief which it affords. For sale by all druggists.

EXTENSIVE IMPROVEMENTS

Planned by the County Fair Board

THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS

Will be Spent in Remodeling the Buildings

Present Outlook for the Fair This Fall is Most Encouraging—Work to Begin in Few Weeks

At an important meeting of the Marion County Fair Board, held in the office of Secretary James Knapp, Saturday, it was decided to make a number of extensive improvements in the equipment in general of the fair grounds. Practically all of the members of the board were present.

The improvements, which were planned will be effected at a cost of thousands of dollars. The board, however, is unanimously in favor of spending the surplus cash in addition to the equipment of the grounds, and when the plans are all carried out, Marion county will compare with any in the state.

The work on the improvements will commence within a few weeks, and will be completed a few weeks before the annual fair. The swine and sheep barns will be renovated, and additional stalls built. The departments will be arranged in a more convenient manner, and made modern in every respect.

There will be an addition built to the speed barn. The object of this will be to get the speed horses away from the exhibit horses. The speed barn will be increased in capacity by about one-third.

The board decided to increase the premiums in every department, making it a greater attraction for the country people to exhibit and thus better the fair in every way. The vegetable hall which has had the appearance of a sheep shed more than anything else will be re-modeled and enlarged, and in every detail will be modernized.

A press stand large enough to accommodate the editors and reporters of the local newspapers will be erected just south of the judge's stand directly opposite the grand stand.

The outlook for a highly successful fair this fall is exceedingly encouraging and under the assuring prospects the board is working consistently with a view of making the October fair the most successful ever held in the county.

FOUND DEAD ALONG TRACKS

George Green of Columbus is Killed

HEAD CUT FROM BODY

Passing Freight Crew Discovers the Remains

Ejected From C. D. & M. Car After Leaving Marion, Green Meets Death on the Hocking Valley

Found lying along the Hocking Valley tracks, one mile south of Radnor, with a terrible gash across the face and the skull terribly crushed in death was George Green, aged about forty, of Columbus, early Monday morning. Letters found on the victim's clothes disclosed his identity.

The body was found by a train crew of an early morning freight. The body was lying close to the east rail in a small pool of blood, and the body just eastward. Immediately upon the discovery of the body, agent H. F. Stone at Radnor, was notified. Stone notified Coroner Wiley of Delaware, and the coroner in company with several Delaware policemen boarded a hand-car, and was soon on the scene.

All evidence pointed to the supposition that Green was intoxicated and riding on a freight train when he fell, head first on the stone road bed. Death undoubtedly resulted instantaneously. A half-pint bottle of whiskey was found in the victim's coat pocket. The body was placed on the hand car and taken to Delaware where it was placed in charge of an undertaker, where it will remain until the police locate the relatives of the unfortunate man.

Green was well dressed and a letter from Columbus found in his pocket, disclosed that he had been in the employ of some collecting agency of that city. It is supposed that he left Marion on the seven o'clock C. D. & M. car Sunday evening, as the motorman says that a man bearing his description, boarded his car here, and not having sufficient money to pay his fare, was put off at Radnor. The motorman declares that when he put the man off at Radnor, he started down the Hocking Valley tracks, and was intoxicated to the extent that he staggered.

The remains were shipped to Columbus Monday afternoon.
